Students representing Metro Credit Union score big at Banker's Bowl.

Chelsea High takes 1st place in Marketing - Peabody Veterans Memorial High takes 1st place in Banking Trivia and 3rd place in Product Development.

Boston, MA. April 12, 2007 – Metro Credit Union participated in the Annual Banker's Bowl, which was held at the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. To be eligible, financial institutions must have a branch in a high school. Metro has two high school branches in Chelsea and Peabody. This year 19 financial institutions competed in the Banker's Bowl.

Students from Chelsea High School and Peabody Veterans Memorial High School represented Metro and competed in three different challenges. The challenges consisted of a Marketing Presentation, Banking Trivia Contest and Product Development presentation.

Each school had the option of entering a team in any of these competitions. Metro entered Peabody High School in all three events and entered Chelsea High School in the Marketing Presentation and the Banking Trivia Contest. Each event acknowledged the top three performers.

"It was a great day for the students and a great day for the Credit Union," stated Robert M. Cashman President and CEO of Metro. Mr. Cashman went on to express his thanks to the students and the Credit Union volunteers that worked with the students in preparation for the event and said that this type of event benefits both the students and the Credit Union.

Mr. Cashman also went on to say, "Metro's in-school banking program is a unique opportunity for the credit union to reach out to the students in the community and provide a hands-on banking experience. We hope this will spark an interest in pursuing a career in financial services after they graduate."
